Tri-Star Health System Presents The Inaugural Spring Hill Imagination Library Golf Tournament

John Maher Builders continues long-time support as sponsor

SPRING HILL, TENN. – TriStar Health System will present the Inaugural Spring Hill Imagination Library Golf Tournament on Saturday, June 17, 2006 at King's Creek Golf Course in Spring Hill. Spring Hill Homebuilder John Maher Builders, Inc., a long-time supporter of the Spring Hill Imagination Library, is a major contributing sponsor. The scramble tournament will tee off at 1:30 p.m. with a shotgun start. A meet and greet with legendary golf great Arnold Palmer awaits the winning foursome.

Proceeds from the tournament will help fund the Imagination Library Program in Spring Hill. The statewide initiative to foster family reading in communities was created by country music legend Dolly Parton and has spread to almost every county in the state. It has been a huge success in Spring Hill, currently serving more than 850 children under the age of five. The Spring Hill Imagination Library mails a book at no cost to each of these children every month.

"We have been amazed at the response to the Imagination Library Program in this community," says Dave Fulkerson, Director of the Spring Hill Library, home for the Spring Hill Imagination Library. "Parents come into the Library all the time and tell us how much their children love the books they receive in the mail through the program. It creates quite an excitement for reading when the children receive the books addressed directly to them in the mail. Through the Imagination Library Program, we are helping to create life-long readers and, therefore, life-long learners."

The Imagination Library Program is a non-profit organization that relies on the support of the community for its operation. Fundraisers like the upcoming tournament are a major source of funding. "Approximately $25 sponsors one child in the Imagination Library Program for an entire year," says Fulkerson.

John Maher Builders' President John Maher is delighted to again be helping the Imagination Library by supplying monetary support, sponsoring a men's and women's long drive contest during the tournament and providing golfers with tournament gift bags. "We have been strong supporters of the Imagination Library since its inception and we feel this tournament will not only help raise more funds for such a worthy cause but also allow more of the Spring Hill community to be involved as well."

Twelve hole sponsors for the tournament are John Maher Builders' sub contractors or vendors: Don Wood Plumbing; Crosslin Supply; South Central Door; Cenwood Appliance; Discount Plumbing; Boral Brick; Southland Glass; Maury Fence; Cumberland Materials; Porter Paint (Franklin); Tru-Green Chem Lawn; and, C & M Heating and Cooling along with RUUD Equipment. "We are delighted many of our subs and vendors have signed on as sponsors. It just goes to show their dedication to giving back to the community," says Maher.

The tournament has room for 120 players of all skill levels. Tournament entry forms are available at many Spring Hill merchants and all John Maher Builders' communities. A fee of $100 per player covers green and cart fees; practice time; a player gift bag; an invitation to a reception hosted by Spring Hill's Tavern on the Ridge restaurant; a hole-in-one contest; a men's and women's long drive contest; a putting contest; and a closest to the pin contest. The grand prize for the winning foursome will be a VIP meeting with Arnold Palmer at the grand opening of the King's Creek Golf Course (designed by Palmer) that includes a personal meeting and photo with the golf legend.

Checks should be made payable to: Spring Hill Public Library and mailed to: Imagination Library c/o Spring Hill Public Library, P.O. Box 309, Spring Hill, TN 37174. For more information about the tournament contact Melissa Webb (931-486-2565), Dave Fulkerson (931-486-2932) or Dick Cole (615-415-1732).
